Florida Virtual School[®] Offers Four New Courses Electives Include New Venture with Mawi Asgedom's Mawi Learning

Orlando, FL (Sept. 24, 2014) – Florida Virtual School (FLVS[®]) has launched four new elective courses, now available for Florida students: Career Research and Decision Making with Mawi Asgedom; Criminal Justice Operations 1; Theatre, Cinema, & Film Production; and M/J Careers in Fashion and Interior Design.

To build upon the success of the Leadership Development Course developed with Mawi Asgedom, FLVS collaborated, once again, with Asgedom and Mawi Learning to offer Career Research and Decision Making to high school students. In this course, students gain insight on college readiness, acceptance and funding. Students explore different career and education pathways, study interview techniques and networking tips, create smart resumes and learn how to plan for a successful future. Throughout the course, students are coached by Asgedom, a Harvard graduate who was the first in his family to attend college and is now a student leadership expert who has trained more than 1 million students worldwide.

In Criminal Justice Operations 1, high school students explore the fields of law enforcement, the court system and the correctional system. Students acquire technical skill proficiency, industry knowledge, higher-order reasoning and problem-solving skills, general employability skills, and occupation-specific skills needed in all aspects of law, public safety and security careers.

Students in grades 9-12 explore the elements of theater and cinematic techniques used to create performance productions in Theatre, Cinema, & Film Production. As students progress through the course, they view the historical development of different genres and the reasons why the genres were used. Students will also be exposed to a detailed view of film and theater backstage operations and asked to speculate on why a director chooses certain perspectives.

For middle school students, M/J Careers in Fashion and Interior Design will develop their leadership, communication, and employability skills as they explore design careers. Students work with textiles and elements of design to complete projects related to fashion and interior design. During the course, students learn resource management, basic sewing skills, clothing choices and technology in the design industry.

"We are thrilled to be able to expand our offerings with more courses that meet the diverse interests of our students," said Jodi Marshall, executive vice president, Business and School Solutions for FLVS. "And, together with Mawi Learning, we have designed a course that will help students learn the skills they need to succeed in today's world, where competition for jobs is tough and admission to top universities requires extensive preparation."
